This year's Highlighter staff would like to dedicate this book to all the fine teachers at Maxson and especially to four excellent teachers who have recently left. We will miss Ms. Doris Williams, Ms. Pyles, Ms. Nemec and Ms. Cooper, and we would like to thank them for their contributions to Maxson. We wish them well in their future endeavors, and would like them to remember that, "Teaching is a noble profession."

Principal's Message

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1984:

Each year, as principal of Maxson School, I am asked to write a few words of wisdom to the graduating class. On various occasions I found myself writing words which seemed to be the "standard type" found in these messages i.e., "let's do our best" or "work hard and you will succeed" or "be confident" and so forth.

Very honestly, I can say to each one of you, be familiar with those same words because they still hold great importance and meaning in the years to come.

You must channel your energies to gain the most diversified education possible. In this age of technology, one can never be too educated.

You have heard me say many times during your years at Maxson that you must set goals for yourselves and aim for the top. I have encouraged you to carry yourselves with pride and confidence and be well-prepared to face the many challenges that may arise.

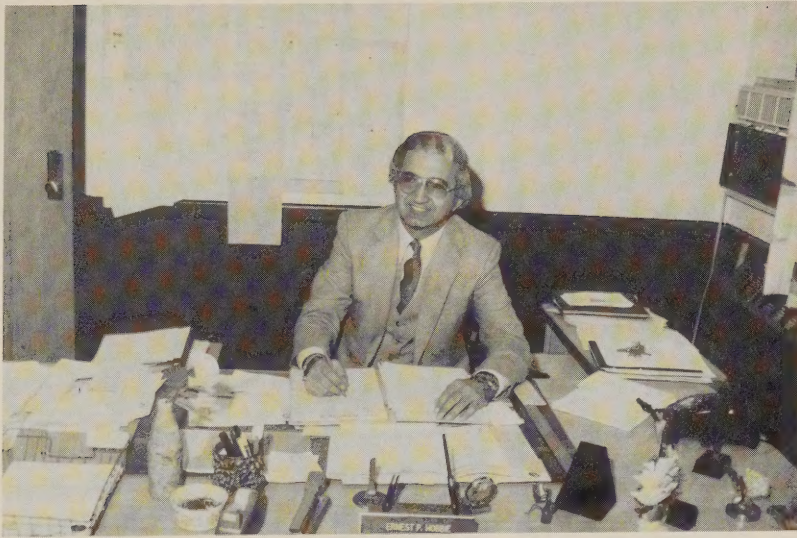

I hope your future will be filled with success, good health and happiness.

Sincerely,

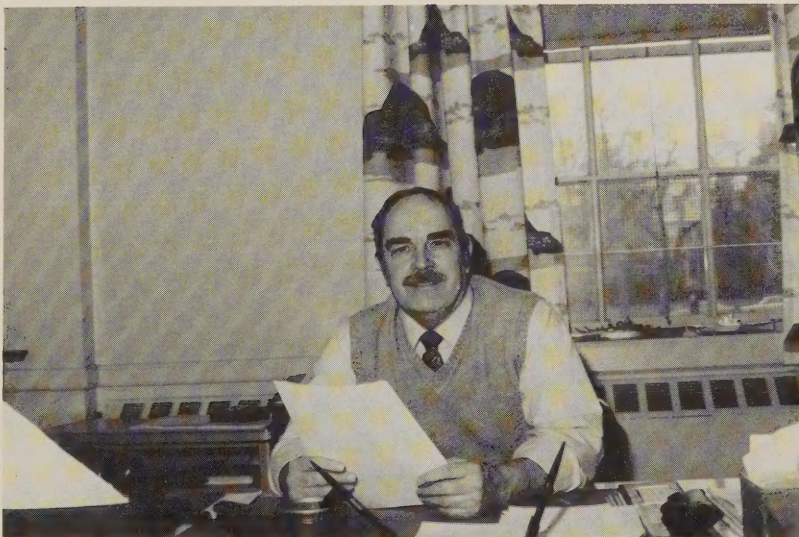

Ernest P. Hobbie
Principal
